

Frederick Z. Brown

Frederick Z. Brown initiated the Southeast Asia Studies program at the Johns Hopkins University's Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS) in 1991 and has been Associate Director since 1995. Mr. Brown was professional staff member for East Asia and the Pacific on the U.S. Senate Committee on Foreign Relations under its chairmen Senator Charles Percy and Senator Richard Lugar from 1984 to 1987. He was a member of the U.S. Delegation to the 1986 Philippine presidential election.

A Department of State foreign service officer from 1958 to 1984, Mr. Brown retired with the rank of Minister-Counselor, having served in France, Thailand, the Soviet Union, Vietnam, and Cyprus. He was deputy spokesman of the Department of State and director of press relations in 1976 and acting spokesman January-April 1977. From 1980 to 1983, he was country director for Indonesia, Malaysia, Burma, Brunei, and Singapore in the State Department Bureau of East Asia and Pacific Affairs.

In Vietnam, Mr. Brown was deputy senior advisor in Vinh Long province (1968-70) and consul general in Danang (1971-73). In Washington, he was country director for Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia affairs, 1977-78, and a member of the U.S. team negotiating normalization of relations with Vietnam during the Carter administration. Mr. Brown has visited Vietnam and Cambodia regularly over the last twelve years. He was an international polling station officer in Kompong Cham during Cambodia's national elections in May 1993. In July 1997, he conducted an assessment of The Asia Foundation's programs in democracy and governance in Cambodia on behalf of USAID. He directs the Ford Foundation program for Vietnamese diplomats and Communist Party central committee staff members attending SAIS and coordinates SAIS' mid-career training program for Southeast Asian diplomats.

Mr. Brown was a Ford Foundation guest lecturer at the Institute for International Relations, Vietnamese Ministry of Foreign Affairs, February-May 2000, teaching a course on international security issues in the post-Cold War era.

Mr. Brown was senior associate at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace (1987-88) and senior associate at the Indochina Institute of George Mason University (1989-90). He was the recipient of a grant from the United States Institute of Peace to study the Cambodia conflict. He is author of Second Chance: The United States and Indochina in the 1990s and Cambodia: The Dilemmas of U.S. Policy, both published by the Council on Foreign Relations in 1989 and 1991 respectively, as well as numerous articles and book chapters on U.S. policy toward East Asia and the Pacific. He is editor of Rebuilding Cambodia: Human Resources, Human Rights, and Law (Washington, DC: Johns Hopkins Foreign Policy Institute, 1992).

His recent articles and book chapters are: "Vietnam Since the War (1975-1995)", in the Wilson Quarterly, Winter 1995; "The Economic Development of Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia" in The Southeast Asian Economic Miracle (New Brunswick, NJ: Transaction Publishers, 1995); "The United States and Southeast Asia Enter a New Era" in Current History, December 1995; "The Realities of Democracy in Vietnam", in Journal of Democracy, Winter 1996; "U.S.-Vietnam Normalization: Past, Present, and Future" in U.S. and Japanese Perspectives on Indochina (New York: M.E. Sharpe, 1997); "United States and Vietnam: Potholes on the Road to Normalization", Vietnam Business Journal, November 1997; and "Vietnam's Tentative Transformation" in Democracy in East Asia (Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, 1998); "The United States and Vietnam: The Road to Normalization" in Honey and Vinegar: Incentives, Sanctions, and Foreign Policy (Washington, DC: Brookings Institution Press, 2000); and "Asian Update: President Clinton's Visit to Vietnam" (New York: The Asia Society, 2000).

A graduate of Yale University (BA) and the University of Colorado (MA), Mr. Brown served in the United States Air Force, 1950-56.

Ed Buscaglia

Professor Ed Buscaglia is a fellow at Stanford University's Hoover Institution since 1991 and at the University of Virginia Law School (starting 1999). He is also the president of the Inter American Law and Economics Association and a legal and economic senior adviser to several international organizations in the United States and Europe.

Dr. Buscaglia is an expert on the impact of legal and judicial frameworks on economic development. His current research focuses on the macroeconomic and microeconomic causes and consequences of public sector corruption; intellectual property rights and their effect on investment in developing countries; the economic impact of the judicial sector; and the factors affecting legal and economic integration in developing countries.

Some of his recent publications include Judicial Corruption in Developing Countries (Stanford U., Press, 1999) ; Judicial Reform in Latin America: A Framework for National Development (Hoover Essays in Public Policy, 1995); "A Quantitative Analysis of Counterfeiting Activities in Developing Countries" (Jurimetrics Journal, 1995); "Corruption and Judicial Reform in Latin America" (Policy Studies, 1996); (with Maria Dakolias) Judicial Reform in Latin America: The Experiences of Argentina and Ecuador (World Bank Press, 1996); (with Thomas Ulen) "A Quantitative Analysis of the Efficiency of the Judicial Sector" (International Review of Law and Economics, 1997); (with Clarisa Long) U.S. Foreign Policy and Intellectual Property Rights in Latin America (Hoover Essays in Public Policy, 1997); An Economic and Jurimetric Analysis of Public Sector Corruption (Essays in Law and Economics, Elgar Press 1997); (with J. L. Guerrero) Benchmarking Procedural Times: A Quality Control Approach to Court Delays (Benchmarking for Quality Management & Technology, 1997). Buscaglia is also the coeditor (with William Ratliff and Robert Cooter) of The Law and Economics of Development (JAI Press) and the coauthor (with William Ratliff) of Legal and Judicial Reforms in Latin America: Political and Economic Implications (forthcoming 1998). Ed Buscaglia is also an op-ed contributor to the Wall Street Journal, London's Financial Times, the Christian Science Monitor, the Washington Times, and the Miami Herald.

Dr. Buscaglia serves as a member of the board on Governance of Transparency International (an international anticorruption alliance based in Berlin) and as a director and member of the board of Analysis and Programming International Consulting Group.

Dr. Buscaglia has been holding teaching positions as a faculty member since 1984 at Washington College, Georgetown University, the University of Illinois, and the National University of Buenos Aires in Argentina.

Dr. Buscaglia received his master's in law and economics and Ph.D. in economics from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign; he received his postdoctoral training in law at the Jurisprudence and Social Policy Program at the University of California at Berkeley Law School.

He was a Fulbright and ITT scholar between 1985 and 1989, he is the director and vice president of the Latin American Law and Economics Association, and the co-founder of nine national law and economics associations within the Western Hemisphere.

Adam Fforde

Adam Fforde is a development economist, currently Senior Fellow on the SEA Studies Programme, NUS. He studied Vietnamese in Hanoi during 1978/79 and was a Visiting Scholar at the National Economics University, Hanoi, in 1985-86. He lived in Vietnam from 1987 to 1992 whilst working as an advisor to the Swedish aid program, and in Australia from 1992 to 1999, where he was a Visiting Fellow at the ANU and Chairman of Aduki Pty Ltd. He has published on topics including the economic development of north Vietnam prior to 1975, agricultural cooperatives, and the transition from plan to market. He is currently working on class formation and the emergence of factor markets in the 1990s, industrial reform since the early 1960s, and Vietnamese development doctrine. He holds an MA in Engineering Science and Economics (Oxford), an MSc in Economics (London) and a PhD in Economics (Cambridge).

Adam Fforde is also Chairman of Aduki Pty Ltd, an Australian consultancy company specializing on Vietnam, and of The Vietnam Educational Trust, a UK Charity.

Contact details

Dr. Adam Fforde, Senior Fellow
Rm AS3 06-14, Southeast Asian Studies Programme
Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, NUS
SINGAPORE 119260

Tel: (65) 874 6865

Fax: (65) 774 8750

Email: msefaj@nus.edu.sg (academic)

Email: aduki@compuserve.com (consultancy)

Website: <http://www.aduki.com.au>

Roger S. Leeds, Ph.D.

*Research Professor of International Finance
And Director, Center for International Business
And Public Policy*

Dr. Roger Leeds teaches at SAIS in the area of international financial markets. His research and writing focuses primarily on the role of the private sector in developing countries, including privatization, financial sector reform, developing financial markets, and private equity investing in emerging markets. Reform of bilateral and multilateral development assistance programs also is a deep interest.

Before joining SAIS, Leeds had a 25 year career as a public and private sector practitioner in the international financial arena, as an investment banker at Salomon Brothers, a senior staff member of the International Finance Corporation (World Bank), a Partner at KPMG in charge of their global privatization practice and as a Managing Director of Patricol and Co., a New York venture Capitol firm. In addition to SAIS, he has taught at the Wharton School of Business and Harvard's Kennedy School. He has authored more than 20 articles in his field, and has served as a guest commentator on, among others, CNN, CBS News, and National Public Radio.

Dr. Leeds received his Ph.D. In international affairs from Johns Hopkins University.

Nguyen Ngoc Bich

Mr. Nguyen Ngoc Bich is currently Director of the Vietnamese Service at Radio Free Asia (RFA). Born in Hanoi, Vietnam, and educated in Saigon, the United States, Japan and Europe, Mr. Bich is fluent in seven languages. He came to the United States on a Fulbright scholarship as an undergraduate student and received his B.A. from Princeton University (Political Science, 1958). He did graduate work in Asian studies at Columbia University (1959-65), Japanese literature at Kyoto University (1962-63), bilingual education and theoretical linguistics at Georgetown University (1980-85).

As an educator, Nguyen Ngoc Bich has taught at university level both in Vietnam and in the United States. Since coming to the U.S. in 1975, he has taught adult education, elementary school and high school in Arlington, Virginia, then at the university level at Trinity College, George Mason University (where he taught Vietnamese Literature and Vietnamese Culture and Civilization), and Georgetown University (where he was a teacher trainer in Bilingual and Multicultural Education). Together with his wife, Dr. Dao Thi Hoi, a linguist and ESL specialist, he was one of a group of educators who in 1979 founded NAVAE (National Association for Vietnamese American Education), the ancestor of NAFEA (National Association for the Education and Advancement of Cambodian, Laotian and Vietnamese Americans). Mr. Bich was the third president of NAVAE, which he headed from 1984 to 1986. Widely recognized for his work in education, he was appointed by President Bush to the post of Deputy Director, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Language Affairs (aka OBEMLA), at the U.S. Department of Education, where he served under Secretary Lamar Alexander from 1991 to 1993.

Mr. Bich was also the founder of National News Service, which provides news of interest to readers of Vietnamese language newspapers worldwide. He is also the author of a number of publications on Vietnam, including An Annotated Atlas of the Republic of Vietnam (1972), North Vietnam: Backtracking on Socialism (1971) and Literature Under Communism in Vietnam (under press). But he is best known as a translator and writer on the arts. The author of The Poetry of Vietnam (Asia Society of New York, 1969), A Thousand Years of Vietnamese Poetry (Knopf, 1975), he also edited War and Exile: A Vietnamese Anthology (Vietnamese PEN, 1989) and translated two collections of poetry coming from the pen of Nguyen Chi Thien, Hoa Dia Nguc / The Flowers of Hell and Hat Mau Tho / Blood Seeds Become Poetry (both published in 1996).

In the field of art and music, he co-authored (with his wife, Dr. Dao Thi Hoi) a bilingual collection of Christmas carols (1975) and translated a book on Vietnamese Architecture (1972). More recently, he has translated Truong Anh Thuy's Truong Ca Loi Me Ru / A Mother's Lullaby (1989); had a hand in doing a photography book by Tran Cao Linh, Vietnam, My Country Forever (Aide à l'Enfance du Vietnam, 1988), the catalogue of a traveling exhibition of Vietnamese and Vietnamese American paintings, An Ocean Apart (Smithsonian, 1996), the book Thai Tuan: Selected Paintings and Essays (VAALA, 1996); and has completed a comprehensive history on Seven Thousand Years of Vietnamese Ceramics (under press). His edition of the complete works of the poetess Ho Xuan Huong (ca. 1770-1835) was published at the beginning of the year to wide acclaim.

Prior to joining RFA (in January 1997), Mr. Bich has worked for 13 years as a Vietnamese-language Program Director for WHFS 103.4 FM and WPFW 89.3 FM in Washington, DC. Because of his varied background and mastery of many aspects of Vietnamese culture, he is a much sought-after lecturer nationwide, on college campuses, at national and international conferences.

Nguyen Quoc Khai

Khai Nguyen is currently an Economic consultant with B D & Associates. He worked at the World Bank as a Senior Economic Research Analyst (1979-99) and the International Food Policy Research Institute (1978-79). He served as a Chief of the Agricultural Economics Bureau, Directorate of Agricultural Statistics and Economics of the Ministry of Agriculture, Vietnam (1971-72) and as an Agricultural Engineer at the Ministry of Rural Reconstruction and Development, Vietnam (1965-1967). He holds a BS in Agricultural Engineering from the College of Agriculture, Vietnam and a MS in Economics from the University of Florida. He is a member of Vietnamese Professionals of America, Inc.

Robert A. Scalapino
Institute of East Asian Studies * University of California

Robert A. Scalapino was born in Leavenworth, Kansas. He received his B.A. degree from Santa Barbara College and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University. From 1949 to 1990 he taught in the Political Science Department at the University of California at Berkeley. He was department chairman from 1962 to 1965 and Robson Research Professor of Government from 1977 until 1990. In 1978 he founded the Institute of East Asian Studies and remained its director until his retirement in 1990. He is currently Robson Research Professor of Government Emeritus.

Professor Scalapino has been the recipient of a number of research grants under such auspices as the Guggenheim Foundation, Social Science Research Council, National Endowment for the Humanities, the Henry Luce Foundation, the Earhart Foundation, and numerous others. He has been awarded the Medal of Highest Honor from the Graduate Institute of Peace Studies, Kyung Hee University; the Order of Diplomatic Service Merit, Heung-In Medal from the Government of Korea; and the Order of the Sacred Treasure by the Government of Japan. In 1990, he received the Berkeley Citation for Distinguished Service to the University of California. In 1997, he was conferred the title of Honorary Professor of both the Center on Northeast Asian Studies in Mongolia and Peking University in Beijing. He received the 1998 Japan Foundation Award, and most recently in 1999, he was awarded the Berkeley Medal.

He has published some 509 articles and 38 books or monographs on Asian politics and U.S. Asian policy. These include Parties and Politics in Contemporary Japan (1962), The Japanese Communist Movement, 1920-1966 (1967), Communism in Korea (two volumes, with Chong-Sik Lee, 1972, for which they received the American Political Science Associations' 1974 Woodrow Wilson Award), Asia and the Road Ahead (1975), The Foreign Policy of Modern Japan (editor and contributor, 1977), The United States and Korea-Looking Ahead (1979), The Early Japanese Labor Movement (1984), Modern China and Its Revolutionary Process (with George T. Yu, 1985), Major Power Relations in Northeast Asia (1987), The Politics of Development: Perspectives on Twentieth-Century Asia (1989), The Last Leninists: The Uncertain Future of Asia's Communist States (1992). He was editor of Asian Survey, a scholarly publication, from 1962 to January, 1996.

Travelling extensively in Asia, he has made 38 trips to the People's Republic of China, including service as a visiting lecturer at Peking University in 1981, 1985, and again in the spring of 1999. He had two separate one-year residences in Japan and numerous visits to Korea, Taiwan and Southeast Asia. He has visited the former Soviet Union on 19 occasions, most recently in November 1998. In 1989, 1991, 1992 and 1995, he was in North Korea for one week on each occasion. On the 2nd and 3rd trips, he was head of an American Mission on Korea sponsored by the Asia Society. He has also traveled to the Republic of Mongolia on 7 occasions, heading the Asia Society's Northeast Asia Study Mission in the fall of 1985; in the fall of 1990 as head of the American delegation to the Second Mongolian International Conference, in the summer of 1992 and most recently in August of 1999.

Professor Scalapino is a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. He was made a Berkeley Fellow in 1993. He serves on the Board of Directors of Pacific Forum-CSIS. He as a founder and first chairman of the National Committee on U.S.-China Relations. He is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Asia Foundation and was recently named Director Emeritus of the Japan Society of Northern California, the Council on Foreign Relations and the National Committee on U.S.-China Relations. He is Co-Chairman of the Asia Society's Asian Agenda Advisory Group. He is also a member of the Board of the Atlantic Council, the National Bureau of Asian Research, and numerous other editorial boards and committees for educational and governmental agencies.

Douglas Pike

Douglas Pike is a specialist on Indochina (Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos) who has spent much of his career in Asia. Since 1997 he has been research director of the Vietnam Center at Texas Tech University and is editor of the Indochina Chronology. He has also taught on occasion in the Political Science and History departments of the University of California, San Jose State University, and Texas Tech University.

Mr. Pike is a retired U.S. Foreign Service Officer (1950-1980), posted in Saigon, Hong Kong, Tokyo and Taipei. During government service he generally was regarded as the U.S. Government's leading expert on Vietnamese communism. His Washington assignments included the Department of State Policy Planning Council (under Henry Kissinger), the Library of Congress's Congressional Research Service and the Department of Defense International Security Agency. Earlier he worked for the Voice of America (covering the White House in the Eisenhower years); during the Korean War, he worked as a civilian for the United Nations in Korea. He holds a BA degree from the University of California, Berkeley (1953), an MA from American University in Washington (1958), and did a year of graduate work at Massachusetts Institute of Technology Center for International Studies (1963-64).

Mr. Pike is author of six books, contributions to 24 edited volumes, and several hundred popular and scholarly articles, monographs and conference papers on Indochina and Southeast Asia. He has traveled widely, giving an estimated 2,000 lectures in 40 countries during the past 20 years. He travels yearly to Vietnam. Currently he is writing a study with the working title "Vietnam Leadership: Decision Making and Makers".

Mr. Pike is listed in Who's Who in America (1998).

His major works are:

- "Viet Cong: The Organizational Techniques of the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam", MIT Press, Cambridge, 1965. (Published in 15 languages)
- "War, Peace and the Viet Cong", MIT Press, Cambridge, 1969
- "History of Vietnamese Communism", Hoover Institution Press, Stanford, 1978.
- "PAVN": People's Army of Vietnam", Presidio Press/Brassey's of London, 1986.
- "Vietnam and the Soviet Union: Anatomy of an Alliance", Westview Press, Boulder, 1987.
- "The Banker Papers: Reports to the President from Vietnam", 1967-1973 (editor). Institute of East Asian Studies and the Asia Foundation, 1990.
- "Vietnam's Educational Heritage", Berkeley, 1997.
- "History of the Vietnam War on Microfilm" (8 volumes) (ed.). University Microfilms International. Ann Arbor, Michigan, 1997.

Daniel M. Price

DANIEL M. PRICE is a Partner in the Washington, D.C. office of Powell, Goldstein, Frazer & Murphy and chairs the Firm's 35 member International Practice Group. His practice focuses on international trade and investment policy and dispute settlement. He has been involved in U.S. constitutional litigation involving the foreign affairs powers, and Commerce and Supremacy Clause issues. Internationally, he has participated, as counsel or arbitrator, in cases under the ICSID, ICC, UNCITRAL, LCIA and Stockholm Chamber Rules. He has also provided technical assistance to the Governments of Vietnam, Bulgaria and China on WTO accession and legal reform. Prior to joining the Firm, Mr. Price was Principal Deputy General Counsel in the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative where he participated in NAFTA and GATT Uruguay Round negotiations and advised on legislative and dispute settlement matters. He also negotiated trade and investment agreements with states of the former Soviet Union, Eastern Europe, and Latin America. Earlier in his career, he served as U.S. Deputy Agent to the Iran-U.S. Claims Tribunal in the Hague where he represented the U.S. Government and advised U.S. businesses in arbitrating claims against Iran stemming from the Iranian revolution. Mr. Price received his undergraduate degree from Haverford College, graduating Phi Beta Kappa. He received a Diploma in Law from Cambridge University and his J.D. from Harvard Law School where he was Articles Editor of the Harvard Law Review. He is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, American Society of International Law, and the Panel of Arbitrators of the American Arbitration Association.

Neil Silver

Neil Silver is Director of the Office of Burma, Cambodia, Laos, Thailand, and Vietnam Affairs at the State Department. Since joining the Foreign Service in 1973, he has worked primarily on Asian issues. He has served abroad at the American embassies in Beijing, Tokyo, and Moscow, as well as at the American Consulate General in Hong Kong. He has also served in several postings at the State Department in Washington.

Mr. Silver was Minister-Counselor for Political Affairs at the American Embassy in Tokyo from 1995-98, and also the Minister-Counselor for Political Affairs at the American Embassy in Beijing from 1992-95. In earlier tours in Tokyo and Beijing, he worked as an embassy political and economic officer, respectively.

From 1983-85, Mr. Silver was a political officer at the American Embassy in Moscow, reporting then on Soviet relations with East Asian countries, provincial conditions, and Soviet intellectual and media trends.

His other postings have included a brief stint at the American Embassy in Tbilisi, Georgia in 1992; as Chief of the China Analysis Unit in the Intelligence and Research Bureau (1990-92); and as Deputy Director of the Office of Korean Affairs (1988-90).

Before returning to the Department in July 1999 to his present position, Mr. Silver was State Department Visiting Fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations in New York City (1998-99). There, he ran a roundtable series of academics and former American government officials that examined new dynamics of U.S.-Japan-China relations. His monograph on new trends and challenges in these relations was published by the Council in May 2000, and was also published in one of Japan's leading monthly reviews of politics and foreign affairs.

Mr. Silver was born in 1943 in Baltimore, Maryland. He received an A.B. from Columbia College in the City of New York in 1965, an A.M. from Harvard University in 1967, and graduated from the National War College in 1988. He speaks Japanese, Chinese, and Russian. With his wife, the former Theresa Yi-jen Chang, he has a son.

Carlyle A. Thayer

Carlyle A. Thayer is Professor of Southeast Asia Security Studies at the Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies (APCSS) in Honolulu, Hawaii. The APCSS is an autonomous reporting unit of the U.S. Department of Defense. Dr. Thayer is currently on leave, until January 2002, from his post as Professor of Politics at the Australian Defense Force Academy in Canberra. Dr. Thayer graduated from Brown University in political science in 1967 and then served in Vietnam with the International Voluntary Services, Inc. He earned an M.A. in Southeast Asian Studies from Yale in 1971 and a PhD in International Relations from The Australian National University in 1977. He has been a frequent visitor to Vietnam since 1981. Dr. Thayer is the author of over 250 publications including: War By Other Means: National Liberation and Revolution in Vietnam (1989), Soviet Relations with India and Vietnam (with Ramesh Thakur, 1992), Vietnam and the Rule of Law (co-edited with David Marr, 1993), The Vietnam People's Army Under Doi Moi (1993), Beyond Indochina, Adelphi Paper 297 (1995), and Vietnamese Foreign Policy in Transition (co-edited with Ramses Amer, 1999).

Charles Peter Timmer

IR/PS--UCSD
9500 Gilman Drive
La Jolla, CA 92093-0519
phone: (858) 822-2642
e-mail: ptimmer@ucsd.edu

A. PERSONAL DATA

Born -- July 29, 1941, at Troy, Ohio
Married -- Carol Falb on August 31, 1963
Children -- Anne Carol on August 9, 1967
 Ashley Susan on February 6, 1969

B. ACADEMIC HISTORY

1. Colleges and degrees:

- Harvard College, 1959-1963, A.B. Degree in Economics, magna cum laude
- Royal College of Science and Technology (Glasgow), 1963-1964, One year non-degree program in food science
- Harvard University, Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, 1966-1968
 - M.A. Degree in Economics, June 1968
 - Ph.D. Degree in Economics, November 1969

2. Academic honors:

- Valedictorian, Tippecanoe High School, 1959;
- Harvard College Honorary Scholarship, 1960;
- John Harvard Honorary Scholarship 1961-1963;
- Detur Award, 1962;
- Phi Beta Kappa, 1963;
- Omicron Delta Epsilon (National Economics Honorary Society), 1963;
- Fulbright Scholar (Glasgow, Scotland), 1963-1964;
- National Science Foundation Fellowship, 1966-1968;
- Goldsmith Prize (best paper submitted in a Harvard economics course), 1967-1968

C. EMPLOYMENT RECORD

- Tip Top Canning Co., Tipp City, Ohio
 - General odd jobs and farm work -- 1951-1957
 - Quality Control Director (seasonal) -- 1957-1960
 - Plant Manager (seasonal) -- 1961-1964
- W. R. Grace and Co.
 - Commodity Analyst, Business Economics Department -- 1964-1966
- Harvard University
 - Research Assistant to Walter P. Falcon, 1967
 - Teaching Fellow, Department of Economics, 1967-1968
 - Development Advisory Service, Economic Advisor to BAPPENAS (Indonesian National Planning Agency), 1970-1971 and summer 1972

- Stanford University, Food Research Institute
 - Assistant Professor, 1968-1974 (on leave 1970-1971)
 - Associate Professor, 1974-1975
- Cornell University, Division of Nutritional Science, H. E. Babcock Professor of Food Economics, 1975-1977
- Harvard University
 - School of Public Health, Department of Nutrition, Professor of the Economics of Food and Agriculture, 1977-1980
 - Harvard Institute for International Development (HIID), Faculty Fellow, 1977-1998
 - Economics Department, 1977-1998
 - Executive Committee, 1990-1998
 - Graduate School of Business Administration, John D. Black Professor of Agriculture and Business, 1980-1986
 - At-Large John D. Black Professor of Development Studies, 1986-1988
 - At-Large Thomas D. Cabot Professor of Development Studies, 1988-1998
- University of California, San Diego, Graduate School of International Relations and Pacific Studies
 - Dean, 1998-2000
 - Professor of Development Studies, 1998- present

D. PROFESSIONAL ASSOCIATIONS AND ACTIVITIES

- American Economics Association
- American Agricultural Economics Association
 - Member, International Committee, 1974-1977
 - President's Liaison Representative to ADC/RTN Program Committee 1974-1980
- American Association for the Advancement of Science Member,
- National Academy of Sciences delegation to visit the People's Republic of China to observe small-scale rural industry, June-July, 1975
- Editorial Board, Food Policy, 1975-present
- Co-Editor, Journal of Development Economics, 1976-1985
- Lead Analyst and Member, Nutrition Overview Study Team, National Academy of Sciences World Food and Nutrition Study, 1976
- Chairman, Task Force on "Nutrition, Product Quality and Safety", Agricultural Council of America-Texas A & M Farm Summit Conference on Economic Problems Facing American Agriculture, 1978
- Who's Who in America, 1980-
- Board of Trustees, Agricultural Development Council, 1981-1985

- Editorial Advisory Committee, American Journal of Agricultural Economics, 1984-1987
- Clerk, Board of Trustees, Overseas Development Network, 1984-1990
- Editorial Board, Pakistan Development Review, 1987-1996
- Advisory Board, World Teach, 1987-1998
- President's Working Group on the Environment, Harvard University, 1990-1991
- Chairman, International Advisory Committee, Indonesian Management Development Institute (IPMI), Jakarta, 1991-
- Co-editor, Review of Economics and Statistics, 1991-93
- Chairman, International Advisory Committee, North South University, Dhaka, Bangladesh, 1992-1997
- University Committee on Environmental Studies, Harvard University, 1993 - 1995
- Board Member, BASIS (Broadening Access and Strengthening Input Market Systems), University of Wisconsin, 1997-1998

E. PROFESSIONAL AWARDS

- American Agricultural Economics Association award for professional excellence in quality of communication for Food Policy Analysis, 1984
- Presentation of the Bintang Jasa Utama (Highest Merit Star) by the Republic of Indonesia, 1992.
- Award as Citizen-Diplomat of the Year by the San Diego International Visitors Council, June 1, 2000.

Truong V. Thuan

Mr. Truong V. Thuan is currently specializing in computer networking and internet security. He is the Team Leader of the Internet Security Group of Learning Services at IBM. He also held positions at Hewlett Packard, the Mitre Corporation, and SAIC. He is an IBM Certified Internet Security Expert, and a Cisco Certified Systems Instructor.

Thuan Truong authored several IEEE papers in the areas of radio networking, and communications. He was a speaker at national and international IEEE conferences since 1984 (Globecom'84, etc.). Thuan Truong was also a speaker at IBM conferences (Interactive'97, NSTC'97) on the subject of Internet Security.

Thuan Truong was a graduate of the l'Institut d'Etudes Politiques, Paris, France. He also holds a Master Degree in Mathematics from the University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky.

He is the current President and Founder of Vietnamese Professionals of America, Inc, (VPA) located in Springfield, Virginia, USA. VPA actively support a number of social and educational programs for the Vietnamese American community in the Washington D.C. area. These programs have been initiated with the purpose of enabling the target populations into becoming stakeholders of the environment they live in:

- MCSE training for disadvantaged minorities in the Washington D.C. area
- Vietnamese Language for the Vietnamese American youth
- "Conference on Prosperity for the People of Vietnam" (Paris, France, 1999)
- Conference on "Vietnam in 2001: Prospects for Economic and Social Progress", jointly organized with the School of Advanced International Studies of Johns Hopkins University (Washington D.C., 2000)
- Etc.

Brantly Womack

Brantly Womack is currently Professor of Government and Foreign Affairs at the University of Virginia.

After receiving his BA Magna cum Laude from the University of Dallas in Politics and Philosophy in 1969, he received a Fulbright Scholarship to the University of Munich in philosophy. He received his MA and PhD in Political Science from the University of Chicago and pursued postdoctoral research in Chinese studies at University of California, Berkeley. Before coming to the University of Virginia in 1992 he was Professor of Political Science at Northern Illinois University and Reader in Chinese Politics at the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London.

Dr Womack has numerous books and monographs to his credit, including Contemporary Chinese Politics in Historical Perspective (Cambridge 1991), Politics in China, 3rd ed. (Little Brown 1986), and Foundations of Mao Zedong's Political Thought (Hawaii University Press 1982) as well as more than forty scholarly articles and book chapters. Recent research topics include border trade between Vietnam and China, regional differences in political economy in Vietnam and China, and problems of misperception in asymmetric international relations. His research has taken him many times to China and to Vietnam.

Jackie Bong-Wright

Work experience

- 1999-2000 President & CEO, National Foundation for Vietnamese-American Voters (NFVAV). Educates Vietnamese-Americans on how to access educational and health services that contribute to citizens' civic, social and economic growth.
- 1998-2000 Consultant on cultural and health-related issues to public and private organizations. Conducts workshops and discussion groups. Organized conferences on cancer, tobacco use, domestic violence, and mental disease.
Radio talk show host, Vietnamese Public Radio. Interviews Vietnamese on topics including women, youth, health, politics, and the economy.
Correspondent, Asian Fortune and various Vietnamese newspapers, reporting on community activities.
- 1979-1982 Executive Director, Indochinese Refugees Social Services (IRSS). Provided housing and health services, information and referral, vocational training, basic skills, and employment services for over 200 refugee boat people households in Fairfax county and Alexandria city.
- 1978-1979 After completing a federally-funded course in counseling, counseled boat people refugees at the Northern Virginia Family Services.
- 1972-1975 Director, Cultural Activities, Vietnamese-American Association, Saigon, Vietnam.
- 1964-1972 Teacher of French, Alliance Francaise, Saigon, Vietnam.

Awards

- 1995 Key to the City of Kingston, Jamaica, by the Mayor of Kingston for social work.
- 1981 Named one of then outstanding Asian-Americans in the United States for 1981 by U.S.-Asia Institute, Washington, DC, for refugee resettlement work.

Education

- 1984 Master of Science in Foreign Service, Georgetown University – majoring in International Relations with minor in International Trade.
- 1964 Bachelor of Arts, University of Bordeaux, France, and Saigon University, Vietnam.